Inventory in the Kitchen The Challenge of the Floating Crocodile The Mission of the Temple BellsBy Vadim Pushkarev for Coinidol.com Cryptocurrency exchange HitBTC has begun trading of bitcoin cash and litecoin on its website. “We welcome our new users to HitBTC. We have developed a new trading platform and are now ready to serve the crypto community. These two cryptocurrencies can be traded on our platform. Users can follow the trading here to learn more about trading”, said HitBTC. The company warned that the wallets had been synchronized “from a backup we made in March”. Users are informed to have their funds in both their wallets and know their private keys. Bitcoin cash is currently trading at $1,731 with a market cap of $5.82 billion. The coin has seen a near 60% decrease in price from it’s all-time high of $3,500. Bitcoin cash has long been discussed by traders as a new high-risk/high-reward market. It is not the first time cryptocurrency exchange HitBTC has added new cryptocurrencies to its list of available assets. Last week HitBTC started trading Ethereum and will soon add Stellar Lumens and Ripple. Litecoin is currently trading at $29.41 with a market cap of $1.87 billion. The coin has seen a 35% rise in price from it’s all time low of $13 and a 5-fold increase on the spot exchange since it’s all-time high. This is not HitBTC’s first decision to add crypto-currencies to its exchange. Earlier in the year the exchange unveiled their partnership with ShapeShift.io, a decentralized exchange, to let users convert cryptocurrencies to fiat before withdrawing or depositing money. This is also not the first time a bitcoin cash has been “promoted” by both Ethereum and Litecoin. In January, the Litecoin Foundation’s head of communication, David Bird, announced that the Foundation was going to change it’s community from Ethereum to Litecoin. The token was called “YOUR LITECOIN” and any community members holding it received dividends. Litecoin will not be the only altcoin to suffer. After a public debate about pumping coins, Onecoin appeared to have gone
